

Sara Barker's Information Station

Sara Barker's Information Station is a page in which users can visit and find out more about Sara Barker, such as learning more about her and accessing her resume to see her skills and previous accomplishments as well as employment.

Sara Barker's Information Station is a website which holds all of the important professional information that Sara Barker has without jumping through hoops of finding her social media. When visiting this webpage, the user can find everything that is important to consider professionally when considering Sara Barker for any sort of offer. This website has a user-friendly design and is simplistic in the information it holds, not having a large amount of bells and whistles attached to make it easier for users who may not be the most tech-savvy to traverse.

Possible future employers: This group of people will possibly want to employ Sara Barker in some sense in the future. Will be looking for a professional website with aggregated information as well as a resume.

Future friends/partners: Possible future friends or partners of Sara Barker and could be looking at this website as a possible background check or just out of interest to who Sara Barker is as a person.

College Application Processors: People who process college applications.

Competitors

Content aggregator websites

User Flows:

Thoughts: Very basic wireframe as the website itself is quite basic in its mechanics, the primary function of the website is to give out information and to be relatively user-friendly with no possibility of the user getting lost or unable to find information that is readily available on the website.

Wireframes:

"About Me" Page

About Resume

Thoughts: Similar to a “card” except row-aligned instead of column, and less focused on being small, more focused on pushing itself out from the background and looking interesting while still being simple to understand. Header up top has 2 locations, “About” and “Resume”, as those are the two locations of the website.

“Resume” Page

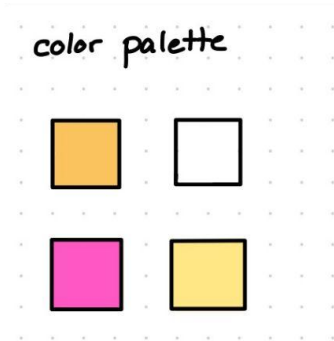

About Resume

---

Thoughts: Resume page is relatively basic and just includes all of the resume information, similar style to the about me page with it “popping out” from the background.

Color Palette Idea

Thoughts: Bright colors to draw the user's attention but not make the website hard to read, possibility of using a background image that has these colors.

Comps

Thoughts: Header should be smaller, possibly a more translucent white spot, but the website is easy to read and understand, as well as being aesthetically pleasing and it has a nice color palette.

Thoughts: Same as the previous comp, just longer as the user will more than likely have to scroll down the page to see all of the information.